

Heritage Club Newsletter

Happy New Year! I look forward to a lot of fun adventures with all of you this coming year! As you can see from the Calendar of Events for the first half of the year, there are a lot of social opportunities for our members.

If you would like to go to “Annie” at the Lied Center, please reserve your spot by January 22. Our members get priority for this event, but Moostash Joe’s will be opening it up to their customers if there is space available after this date. Call 402.721.7944 to book this fun outing!

Also, I would strongly encourage you to attend the Estate Planning Seminar in April. Andrew Loudon, an estate attorney who works throughout Nebraska, will be presenting on the Top Ten Mistakes Made in Estate Planning. There will be a Q&A at the end, and a light breakfast will be served.

Due to growing attendance at events, we’re introducing a member-first priority RSVP system. Members will have early access to RSVP. If space allows, RSVPs for guests will open one week before the event. Have a friend or family member who loves coming to our Heritage Club events? Encourage them to become a Pinnacle Bank customer and join the Heritage Club!

“Wishing you a HAPPY NEW YEAR with a Happy New Day, every day of the year, as you follow your dreams, one day at a time, as the sun rises each day.”

Beware of the LATEST SCAMS.

Scammers are constantly finding new ways to target individuals. Below are some of the most common scams affecting people today.

Work-from-Home Scams

Scammers offer seemingly legitimate work-from-home opportunities, such as virtual personal assistant roles, often promising high pay for minimal effort. Once hired, the scam may unfold in several ways. For example, they might request sensitive information, involve you in illegal tasks, or ask you to use your personal accounts for financial transactions or purchases. Eventually, the “company” vanishes, leaving you to face consequences like bounced checks or identity theft. Be cautious of any job offer that requires upfront payments or the use of your personal accounts – these are always scams. Remember, if a job seems too good to be true, it likely is.

Tech Support Scams

Tech support scams often begin with a pop-up message on your computer or an unexpected phone call, claiming your device is infected. Scammers pose as representatives from well-known companies like Microsoft or Apple, urging you to call a support number or allow remote access to your device. Once they have access, they steal personal data, install malicious software, or demand payment for fake repairs. Remember, legitimate companies will never contact you to fix an issue unless you’ve requested help. Always be wary of unsolicited calls or pop-ups asking for access to your computer.

Romance Scams

Scammers create fake profiles on dating sites or social media, slowly building trust and emotional connections. Once they’ve gained your confidence, they fabricate emergencies—such as medical crises or travel issues—and request money. They may even promise to visit you but claim they need financial assistance. Always be cautious when sharing personal or financial information with someone you’ve only met online, and be wary of anyone who asks for money under urgent or suspicious circumstances.

Grandparent Scam

Although this scam often targets the elderly, anyone can fall victim to imposter scams. Scammers pose as a loved one, typically claiming to be a grandchild or close relative in distress, and urgently ask for financial help due to an emergency. They often request payment through untraceable methods such as cash, wire transfers, gift cards, or cryptocurrency. Be cautious of unexpected calls or messages asking for money, especially when pressure is applied for immediate action.

Stay vigilant, and if something feels off, trust your instincts.

If you suspect you’ve fallen victim to a scam, notify local law enforcement and contact your local branch or customer support immediately. We are ready and happy to assist you.
